JUNE 1953

OLNEY HIGH SCHOOL • PHILADELPHIA

Theme

The ocean—a great barrier, progress of man bound together with his conquest of the sea: Columbus, Vespucci, Hudson; the Chipper Ship, the Steamboat, the Luxury Liner. Each has made a contribution showing the way for progress.

The ocean—a source of rich folklore, ballads, literature: Two Years Before the Mast, The Flying Dutchman, The Chanties of the Deep—A cultural heritage for all nations of the world.

The ocean—a battleground: the Spanish Main, the Straits of Trafalgar—a history written in the blood of brave men fighting for what they believe in.

The ocean has seen many things, for the annals of the men who braved it tell of progress, freedom, and poetry.

We then adopt as our theme the symbol of brave men, of stout ships, of a national heritage.

Our Sponsors

Because you have given up so much time and effort for our benefit, because you have been constantly planning, advising, and guiding, because you are two wonderful people, we, the class of June 1953, want to say simply, but sincerely, "Thank you." We are very grateful for your interest and assistance in planning our prom, the class trip, and graduation day itself. You have helped in innumerable ways to make our senior year at Olney a happy and memorable one. In appreciation to you, our sponsors, Mr. Glass and Mrs. Loveland, we dedicate our yearbook.

How did the "Good Ship Olney" look to us when we were freshmen? It was new to us, looming large in our eyes and mysterious as the depths of the sea! The water seemed rough, and the weather seemed stormy!

Through the guidance of our faculty we, the crew, sailed the ocean successfully. The helpful mates, our counselors, showed us how to sail the stormy sea. Our teachers taught us the history of the sea, the mathematics of the waves, and the languages of the people who traversed the ocean. They have not only assisted us in solving our problems in the past, but also they have given us expert advice concerning the courses of our future. They have helped to steer our boat on our next voyage into the sea of life. In our stay at Olney we have grown from frightened freshmen to sturdy seniors. We could not look back on our high school days without being reminded of the sympathetic and understanding aid of our faculty.

ANDREW S. HAINES

Andrew S. Haines

Principal's Message

You sigh with satisfaction.
The long voyage ends; the port is reached.
Safe harbor, with the anchor cast!
Security from tossing wave, boisterous wind!
But no! Only a pause!
Pull up anchor; set sail.
Take the helm—a new port—destiny awaits!
Say, with William Henley, in "Invictus"
"I am the master of my fate.
I am the captain of my soul."

Cheerio! Bon Voyage! God bless you.

WALTER B. GREENWOOD

NELLIE S. FINK

Vice Principals

Working right along with Mr. Haines on the good ship Olney are Mrs. Fink and Dr. Greenwood, the assistant principals. We owe them a many gun salute for the constant aid that they offered us. Mrs. Fink with her ever-ready understanding heart and Dr. Greenwood with his exhilarating, spontaneous jokes helped to make our stay at Olney both profitable and enjoyable.

We shall never forget the courage they instilled in us nor the personal way in which they treated the little individual problems that seemed so enormous to our inexperienced souls. Now that we are leaving Olney, we must thank Mrs. Fink and Dr. Greenwood for helping us chart our course toward maturity.

Since there are a large number of young men in the armed forces, it is difficult to get a complete alumni functioning. However, the association promotes more reunions for individual classes. They also look forward to many general meetings with contacts to an executive committee.

We at Olney may be justly proud of our Mothers' Discussion Group. This group of thoughtful parents always strives for the betterment of the school, and in doing so provides an excellent tie between the school and the home. Aside from their friendly assistance, their financial aid has helped to further the development of the Band, A Cappella Choir, and Honor Society Scholarship Fund.

We would like to thank the Mothers' Discussion Group once more for their wonderful guidance and assistance in all matters.

Since Olney High's establishment, the Big Four Fathers' Association has helped make every student's life on the boisterous waters an easier one. The library and the athletic field were established largely through the efforts of these men. Thanks to them, one student every term is awarded a Big Four Scholarship to Temple University.

Numbering some seven hundred members, the Big Four claims the finest men in the Olney community. If our voyage has been a successful one, our Dads' efforts are greatly responsible.

Star Salesmen Are Shown in Heavy Print

SPORTS

When we had passed the initial "mal-de-mer", and had settled down to a calm life at sea, we found that our spare time was as infinite as our sailing grounds, the ocean. It is true that we had academic courses such as map charting 1, course plotting 3 and 4, and sea legs 1 and 2. But these still left us time for other things. Less active sailors might have chosen things like "wave counting", an activity corresponding to landlubber's "looking out windows", but some took up sports.

Do not say that life on a ship is confining! Our sports' horizon is as broad as the one caused by the ocean meeting the sky. Do not say that there is not a sport for each sportsman's taste! Our active life runs from the "leaning over the rail" team to the "swimming away from the sharks" team. This gives each his choice.

So, take it away! Gaze on our active sailors!
Who as I've said, consist of those
Who "swim from sharks" or touch their toes.
They range from A to Z of swimmers and railers.

OLNEY

SENIORS

We have come to the end of our high school sail,
And we pause a moment for thought,
A moment in which to recall the many
Joys that this trip has brought.
Our ship was a beautiful, gallant ship,
Most noble to sail the seas
Pleasures and griefs, shallows and reefs
She weathered with graceful ease.
Her rudder, her rigging, her billowly sails
Were assembled with greatest care,
But the skill and the patience of skipper and mates,
Are what made her a gem so rare.
And the crew, when we boarded her four years ago,
A more trembling bunch could not be.
For we shivered and shook from our caps to our boots
At the thought of the pitiless sea.
But today we are wiser and braver by far
Than when we first sailed on the sea
We have learned how to sail on the great sea of life
And how courses charted should be!
So memory has painted our high school sail
With colors that never fade
And we find at the end of our four happy years,
The path of our future laid.

PRESENTS THE

SENIOR PROM

AT THE

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HOTEL

FRIDAY EVENING, JANUARY 16

NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-THREE

Shirley Meyers

Then you'll call for me at 8?

Does my hair look
all right?

The teachers had fun too!

I can just about
keep my eyes open.

OUR CREW

Everyone changed clothes for the breakfast parties.

When the Prom ended, we went to the Sater, the Hawaiian Cottage,
or some other
place to get something to eat and to see the show.

Are all you girls settled
in there?

- Oh! flowers for me?

- 12 A council planned everything.

Can't hurt you. It's only root beer.

AT PLAY

The Prom was terrific -

We danced,
took pictures,
and admired
each other's gowns.

The Ben Franklin never looked so good.

GRADE CHAIRMAN

ISABEL B. NEUMANN

During our four years at Olney we have been confronted with many problems. We, in turn, have transferred these problems to Miss Neumann, our grade chairman. Carefully she has found the answers and explained them to us. Patiently she has talked with us and advised us what subjects to choose.

We are glad of this opportunity to express our appreciation and to say, "Thanks for all that you have done for us!"

LADDER SCENE

On May 21 and 22, Olney High presented "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder. We owe the great success of this dramatic presentation to Mrs. Gertrude Loveland, the sponsor of the Footlighters. This was the first play given by Olney in four years. Mrs. Loveland spent endless hours training her cast. We of Olney High thank you, Mrs. Loveland, from the bottom of our hearts.

We are also grateful to Mr. Martin Rugg for his excellent job of handling the publicity, tickets, and programs.
